The graduate and professional students of the University of Iowa, in 2006, organized the Graduate and Professional Student Government, hereafter referred to as GPSG, as the student government of the graduate and professional student body. The term "GPSG" within this document shall be used to refer to the entire body of GPSG, consisting of delegates, president, vice president, officers, chairs and liaisons, unless otherwise specified. GPSG is the student government of Graduate and Professional Students at The University of Iowa. Graduate and Professional Students form a distinct and important segment of the university population. It is necessary the graduate and professional students are brought together to exchange ideas and resources and promote matters that are of interest to the entire body of Graduate and Professional Students. GPSG serves as a conduit of information and advocacy concerning matters relevant to graduate and professional education.

MISSION

The mission of the Graduate and Professional Student Government is to unite Graduate and Professional students, identify common causes, facilitate collaboration amongst its constituents, and advocate as the representative voice for Graduate and Professional students.

VISION

The vision of the Graduate and Professional Student Government is to become an efficient, collaborative government of graduate and professional students. We seek to utilize the strengths of existing graduate and professional student governments through collaborative decision-making in questions of relevance to Graduate and Professional Students. Our vision is for a government that unites the voices of the different member government and increases participation and engagement amongst graduate and professional students.

Member governments may appoint any individual from their constituency at any time to serve as an alternate.

A single student in a dual degree program may not simultaneously sit in two of the seats on GPSG. Delegates of GPSG are subject to removal from GPSG only by the graduate and professional student government that appointed them to the position. These principles are expected to be observed in the internal policies and practices of the University; specifically in the admission, housing, and education of students; in policies governing programs of extracurricular life and activities; and in the employment of faculty and staff personnel. ## ARTICLE 2. PROCEDURES OF THE Graduate and Professional Student Government

2.A. Elections, Nominations, and Voting

2.A.1 Nominations

Officer, Chair, and Liaison nominations shall be submitted to GPSG President starting two weeks prior and concluding one week prior to the Election Meeting. Nominations will be posted on GPSG website as received by the President during the Nominations period. Candidates may nominate themselves for any position. If a vacancy exists, the current President is responsible for filling vacancies with the advice and consent of the delegates. A student may only be nominated after the nomination deadline if a vacancy exists for one of the officer positions. The President shall receive the nominations for any vacant officer position at any time prior to the meeting in which elections are held. If an individual that was nominated for a position was not elected for said position, they may be nominated for another position not yet voted upon during the Election Meeting.

2.A.2 Election Terms and Eligibility

All GPSG officer, chair, and liaison elections are made in April. These one-year terms begin the Monday following finals week in the spring semester. All officer, chair, and liaison positions are open to any graduate or professional students including Delegates and Alternates, with the exception of the Chief Financial Officer (GPAC Chair), who cannot be a Delegate.

In the case that mid-term a liaison position becomes vacant, a GPSG delegate may serve in that position for an interim period of two months until a new liaison is elected by GPSG delegates, unless otherwise specified in committee bylaws. If an officer or chair steps down mid-term, a special election must be held within four weeks. Another officer shall assume the duties of the vacant position until a replacement is found.

Eligibility for GPSG Presidency shall alternate between graduate and professional students each year and the student group eligible for GPSG President position shall not also be eligible for the Vice President position. All other positions are equally open to graduate and professional students. If a student group fails to nominate a candidate for GPSG President or Vice President prior to the elections happening during the April meeting, an eligible candidate from another student group may then be nominated and elected as President or Vice President at that meeting. The following years elections would then proceed as if the President or Vice President had been a member of the absent student group.

2.A.3 Election Procedure

Officers, chairs and liaisons shall be elected in the order as they appear within this charter. An eligible nominee may give a three-minute speech prior to the election of the officer. Following the speech, GPSG body may ask the candidate questions that the candidate may answer for a period not to exceed ten minutes. After each candidate has had the opportunity to give a speech and has had the opportunity to answer any questions GPSG body asked that candidate, ballots shall be given out to each voting GPSG member. Each voting member may vote for one candidate. Votes will be tallied by the current GPSG President following each election and the results will be made public prior to proceeding with the election of the next group of officers. If the current GPSG President is a candidate for that position, an officer other than the President shall tally the votes. Timing will be kept by an officer who is not a candidate for the position to be voted upon. If no officer is available to time the election process or tally the votes, the officers may elect a delegate to fulfill that duty. A candidate who runs for multiple officer positions may give one speech and one ask and answer session for each position. A candidate shall not be elected to more than one officer position. Note that proxy votes may be accepted via email to the President in cases of a delegate's absence.

All officers must be elected by a vote of the delegates present at the meeting at which the election is held. An alternate delegate may only vote if replacing the vote of a full delegate. If no candidate receives a simple majority on the first ballot, all nominees not receiving one of the two highest vote tallies shall be removed, and a second ballot shall be taken with the remaining candidates. On the second ballot, whichever candidate receives a plurality of votes shall be declared the winner.

Any vacancy among the elected officers shall be filled at a special election held at the next general meeting of GPSG, and according to procedures as closely in accord with ordinary election procedures as is practical.

2.B. Council Meetings

2.D. Voting

All measures pending before GPSG, with the exception of the election of GPSG officers, shall be approved by a  $\frac{2}{3}$  majority of eligible delegates. (For instance, if all 15 delegates are present, at least 10 votes are needed to pass legislation.) During the election of GPSG officers, the candidate receiving a simple majority of votes shall be elected.

2.D.1 APPROVED MEANS OF VOTING

A vote by secure, electronic means (e.g. e-mail) is acceptable when the President deems it appropriate; telephonic meetings may also be held. Amendments to this charter may not be approved by electronic means or by proxy. They require the physical presence and respective votes of the delegates.
